Soph Abilities Tested Today

Loyola College Sophomores are participating, today, in the Twentieth Annual National College Sophomore Testing Program sponsored by the Cooperative Test Division of the Educational Testing Service. Last spring, 21,000 second year men in 170 American colleges and universities took these examinations.

The purpose of the program is to determine the standing of the average college sophomore. This enables the individual to compare his own abilities with the average.

Test Scores Graded

The cooperative program embraces such subjects as English, General Culture and Contemporary Affairs. The questions are designed to indicate the student's analytic abilities in thinking as well as general knowledge.

Soon after the results have been tabulated, each student will be furnished with his grades. A leaflet will also show him the significance of his test scores and the uses he may make of them.

Aids Placement Bureau

A chart will be included in the leaflet so that the students may plot their test scores graphically. This will indicate in which fields their achievements and interests are greatest.

Mr. Henry Zerhusen, director of the placement Bureau, states: "These tests will be an invaluable aid for us in giving vocational advice. It also will aid the students to concentrate their abilities to best advantage."

NFCCS Picks New Officers

Edward Pula, Senior Delegate of the NFCCS, has announced the following appointments to the society: James Gumnick, Junior Delegate; Joseph Paszek, Chairman of the Liturgy Commission; and William Ruzicka, Chairman of the Fraternity of Christian Doctrine. These positions are effective immediately.

The Baltimore-Washington Regional Commission holds classes of instruction at Evergreen on Wednesday afternoons. These sessions are conducted by the Sisters of the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart.

The 1951 Baltimore-Washington Regional Congress will convene on Saturday, April 14, at Notre Dame College. The expressed theme of the congress, "The Catholic and Student Parish", has been adopted to stress individual lay leadership of the college graduate in his community.

General Congress Chairman Harry Quinn of Mount St. Mary's College, has released the information that the congress will open at 10 a.m. with Solemn High Mass. During the day, plenary sessions will be interspersed with Catholic Action Seminars conducted by the various Regional Commissions. Another feature of the congress will be the election of the 1951-1952 Regional-Council Officers.

Prom Reservations Open To School, See Sellout

According to the Prom Committee, initial returns indicate there will be an early sellout. These figures are based on returns of last week.

New Play Set For Dramatists

The Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society has announced through its moderator, the Rev. Leo G. Monaghan, that it will produce and stage Paul Vincent Carroll's famous Lenten play, Shadow and Substance.

Tentative plans call for the production to take place about two weeks after Easter. The society is making an attempt to obtain the auditorium of the Seton High School as the location of production.

Difficulty had arisen in that one of the four female roles could not be easily converted into a male part. This has been ironed out and Father Monaghan has begun rehearsals for the staging of the Irish drama.

The play was adapted and characters revised by the Mask and Rapier president, William Vollenick, for all male use. Tryouts for the production were held last Friday and the results will be posted in the very near future.

Production is under the direction of Edwin Watson, past president of the society.

Students To Be Given Chance To Join Naval Reserve Unit

Students planning on joining the Naval Reserve Corps are urged to do so immediately. Only those who have not yet been classified 1A are eligible.

Those who do enlist will be required to train one night a week, with pay, at Fort McHenry. Most likely they will not be called for at least a year and there is a strong possibility they may even finish college before being called up.

After joining the Reserve, a college student may apply for the Reserve Officer Corps. This program consists of two 6 week training periods during the summer at Newport, Rhode Island. The pay for the first summer is $95.55 monthly and for the second summer $117.60 monthly.

Those accepted in the R.O.C. will be deferred until the end of their college career.

Anyone wishing additional information should contact:

Junior Class could insure a reservation by placing $1.00 down and by paying the remainder at any convenient time before the prom. Initial returns as of March 2 show that approximately seventy-five tickets have been purchased by the Junior Class.

The dance is now open to the rest of the school and the full price of admission must be paid in order to obtain a reservation. "The Belvedere has limited the number of couples, so those interested should contact members of the committee as soon as possible", according to John O'Connor, president of the Junior Class.

Juniors may still submit pictures of their dates for the prom court contest. Students from Georgetown University will determine the winners from the photographs. The three finalists will serve in the prom court and assist the distribution of favors at the prom.

Anthony Spartana, chairman of the program committee, states that the campaign for patrons has received much attention; these patrons may be purchased for a fee of fifty cents.

Debating Society Plans Trip To Fredericksburg

The Robert Bellarmine Debating Society has canceled the trip to participate in the Tau Kappa Alpha national debating contest scheduled for Tennessee. To supplant this, eight Loyola orators will travel to Fredericksburg, Virginia, March 21-24, to take part in the Grand National Forensic Tournament sponsored by the Strawberry Leaf Society of Mary Washington College.

The speakers will leave on March 21 to participate in the preliminaries which include address reading, after dinner speaking, book reviewing, declamation, dramatic oratory, extemporaneous speaking, informative speaking, original orating and poetic readings.

The following day, the first of nine rounds of debating will begin. Topic for discussion will be "Resolved: That the Non-Communist Nations of the World Should Form a New International Organization."

The Pyramid system of judging will be used. This consists of the following: each team shall evaluate its opponent and report it to the officials. A judge shall also be present at each of the contests and the winner is the team who has the best score in the opinions of its opponents and the judges.

Those who are tentatively scheduled to make the trip are: Joseph Blair, John Seal, John Fitzpatrick, William Hicken, Edward Reahl, Bruce Alderman, Francis Kihn and Francis Stafford.

Rev. Joseph K. Drane, S.J.

IRC Sends Four to Convention

The International Relations Club announced plans to send four delegates to the IRC convention to be held at Beaver College, Pennsylvania on March 28, 29 and 30. Joseph Sills, Robert Freeze, Joseph Steffens and Andrea Alcaresse will represent Loyola and their task will be that of upholding Egypt's position in the United Nations.

According to Joseph Sills, president, the club wishes to accentuate that the meetings will be held on Mondays at 3:00 in room 104L rather than on Wednesdays.

Final Decision Rests Upon Law Passed

The announcement that present plans are not to provide acceleration for students presently enrolled was explained by the Rev. Joseph K. Drane, S.J., dean of studies, in a recent statement prepared for THE GREYHOUND.

The text of the statement follows: "Most of our upper-classmen have already received their draft classifications. Those who are classified 1A have received postponements until the end of the present academic year.

None Benefit

"None of these students would benefit by a summer session unless there is a re-classification by Selective Service and unless a favorable deferment system for college students is incorporated into the new draft law. If the draft law provides for the deferment of students now enrolled in college, it would defer students who qualify until the end of the next academic year.

"If there is no such deferment provision, students who are already classified would automatically be inducted even if they were attending a summer session. The college administration therefore takes this position with regard to the acceleration of students now enrolled.

Await Congress

"1. If the Congress enacts a draft law which provides for the deferment only of college students who are enrolled and attending classes in a summer session, then the college will provide the session.

"2. If the Congress enacts a draft law which will provide for the deferment of qualified students until the end of next academic year whether they are enrolled in the summer session or no, then the college will not provide a summer session.

"3. If the Congress enacts a draft law that provides no deferment for college students, then the college will not provide a summer session.

Some Prevented

"Although it would be convenient for students who are veterans who for other reasons foresee that they will not be inducted to accelerate their programs, still there is a sizeable group of students who, even if they were assured of the opportunity to continue in college, would for financial reasons or because of their connection with some military reserve be unable to attend a summer session.

"In view of the great diversity of courses offered in the junior and senior years and in view of the diminished number of students resulting in those courses, if one-half the student body attended a summer session and the other one-half waited for those courses until the Fall, the college would be unable to conduct those courses for both groups without raising the tuition."

Recently the college publicly announced its plan to admit freshmen this year to a summer session beginning June 18 and also to admit freshmen again in the Fall.

Underclassmen Set Joint Spring Dance

A joint dance committee has been set up by the sophomore and freshman classes to sponsor a full-size informal Spring hop. The dance will be held in the gymnasium on April 28, and the committee is at present still engaged in contracting for an orchestra.

The gym will be decorated in a style appropriate to the Spring motif—under the direction of William Manger, and the usual refreshment concession will be operated by Baumiller & Cockey, partners. James P. Garland, president of the sophomore class, who is the chairman for the dance, is expectant of a large turn-out due to "the lack of social activity during Lent and to the reasonable cost of admission." The last affair sponsored by the sophomore class was the Freshman Welcoming Dance, held in October.

will graduate with the class of June, 1953. The wedding will be held on June 16.

The engagement of Miss Niki L. Bantro to John S. Magee, Jr., presently enrolled at Loyola College, was announced on February 3 by Miss Bantro's parents. Magee will graduate in June, 1953.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Carioti, of 3038 Oakford Avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Carioti, to Mr. Gerald Pondo, a graduate of the class of 1950. Pondo is presently a reserve corpsman stationed at Camp Pendleton, California.

Sodalists Give Catholic Book Fair Helping Hand

Plans have been made for the reception of new members into both Sodalities to be held on Sunday, April 22 in the students' chapel. The reception will be combined with the Sodalities' annual day of recollection. Talks will be given by a local Jesuit whose name will be announced shortly.

Saturday, March 31 will be the date of the Junior Sodality's first post-Lenten record dance. The dance will begin at 8:30 in the cafeteria, and refreshments will be included in the $1 price of admission.

The sodalities furnished ushers for the Catholic Book Week lecture given at Seton High School Auditorium by the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J.

At a recent meeting of the Junior Sodality, a collection was taken up for the assistance of an impoverished seminary in Yucatan State, Mexico. The offerings which amounted to $6 were sent to the Father Superior via the American Consul, along with a donation from the Sodality Treasury. The Sodalists were shown a sound film on the ceremonies of the Mass at one of the recent meetings. The Vision, the official publication of the Jr. Sodality, formerly edited by John McGrain, has been taken over by James L. Gumnick, vice-prefect. The Vision was commended for its efforts in last month's issue of Action Now, the official publication of the national Sodality headquarters in St. Louis, Missouri.

The Junior Sodality has plans afoot for the annual Queen's Ball which will be held this year on May 19 in the gym. Bill Manger is chairman of the decoration committee; Bill Farrell is handling publicity; Larry Hart is on the ticket sales, John McGrain on the orchestra committee, and Lou Reinhardt is acting as general chairman.

In the Senior Sodality, prefect Eugene Conroy has resigned, and his position has now been filled by his second-in-command, James Hubbard.

Musical Festival Due

The Loyola College Glee Club took a major part in an entertainment program for the benefit of the Jesuit Missions in India. The affair was held recently at St. Ignatius' Auditorium.

Felice S. Iula, director of the Department of Music at Loyola, has announced that the Glee Club will perform at Jenkins Memorial and also at Children's Hospital sometime in March.

Plans are now underway for the Spring Concert which will be held on May 29. The concert will be held in the new auditorium which the contractor has promised for that date. This will be the first affair to be held in the auditorium which is now nearing completion. A dance in the gymnasium will follow the concert.

Cagers Meet Hopkins...

With Joe Lacy leading the way, the Frosh cagers finished their season by trouncing the Western Maryland yearlings by an 86-44 score and thereby ending conference play with a perfect 10 and 0 slate.

This record assures them of at least a tie for the mythical Mason-Dixon Conference J. V. championship and enables the squad to finish with an 18 and 6 mark on the season.

The younger Lacy, in turning in his best effort of the year, rattled the cords for 24 points, getting most of his baskets on driving one-handers from inside the foul circle. Also hitting for double figures were Jack Doyle with 15, and Joel Hittleman and Al Karwacki with 10 apiece.

Earlier in the week, minus the services of their ace forward Hittleman, the Frosh dropped a 54-52 heartbreaker to a strong Fort Meade team.

On Acceleration

At second glance, the administration's "no acceleration" announcement seems to be the wisest course the college could take at the present time. In reaching the decision, four groups of students had to be taken into consideration: reservists, those too young for the draft, veterans and those with postponements until early summer.

Most of those students who are reservists are required to attend summer camp, and, hence, would be unable to enroll in any acceleration program. Freshman interviews conducted by the dean recently showed that only fifty percent of the presently enrolled frosh favored acceleration.

If the veterans show the same interest in such a program as the freshmen, then only half of them will attend a summer session. Loyolans who have postponements at present have no guarantee that acceleration will enable them to gain an extended postponement.

The above indications coupled with the great diversity of courses offered at Evergreen makes it readily seen that the high costs could not be offset unless the tuition be materially raised.

Contrary to most student opinion, the College has not given up entirely the idea of acceleration. This was made plain by Fr. Drane, who announced that the program hinges on what Congress decides to do. If the government leaders enact a law which states that students who attend summer schools can be deferred, then Loyola will renew acceleration.

Now you know the facts, write your congressman!

From Our Contributors

Of all the many offices in our secular society, perhaps none is as unique as the office of the teacher. The reason for this is that to the teacher alone is universally entrusted the authority to train men's minds, to teach them to think, to lead them to truth. Truly, the teacher is a vital person in the society of every nation. But as vital as he is, as great as the authority of the teacher is, then just as grave is his responsibility to the society that gave him his authority.

There is a proportionate relationship between the authority entrusted to a person and the responsibility that comes as a result of accepting the authority. And the authority that allows a man to deal with men's minds, the authority that allows one man to strongly influence another man for life, entails the greatest responsibility, for who can tell the effect the teacher has had in partially determining even the eternity of some men?

The work of the teacher, then, is only beginning when he completes his own formal education. Regardless of the high talent a teacher may have, there is no way to circumvent the pure labor of planning each minute of every class, of enduring various types of students. And because all this is labor in a very real sense, many a lesser man has become a greater teacher out of sheer diligence, which is a vivid anathema to those men of greater talent, who try to let their undergraduate and graduate days carry them through their teaching life.

Teaching does not consist in pounding personal opinions, making satirical comments, reading from books the students can read themselves.

It transcends all of these things. It at least attempts to show the relation of one thing to another, to develop in the student a proper perspective in the use of facts learned, to show the student how to use what he knows, not merely to know what he uses. If the teacher be the manufacturer, the student is not he who receives the machined product, but he who is given a machine by which he can make his own products.

Placement Office Serves Dual Function to School

by F. Neale Smith

The Guidance and Placement Office of Loyola is the youngest but certainly one of the most important facilities open to the students and alumni of the college.

It had its actual beginning in the Veterans' Administration Guidance Center which was founded in 1945 primarily for ex-GI's. Its function was limited to guidance. The Center was staffed by Mr. Henry Zerhusen and Mr. Patrick Coughlin.

Two Years Old

In 1949 when the number of veterans in school began to decline sharply, the Guidance and Placement Office came into being. Mr. Zerhusen took over the work of the office, and in the short time of two years had brought it to its present point of efficiency.

As its name implies the Office has a two-fold purpose, guidance and placement. In the first respect a full testing program is arranged. The National Freshman and Sophomore testing program are conducted annually, together with the Graduate Record Examinations for the Seniors. Besides the National Examination, the college gives a Freshman Aptitude Test, a College Accounting testing Program for Freshmen accounting students and accounting majors, and a Scientific Aptitude Testing Program for sophomore science students.

Employment For Wives

Concerning its second function, "let's look at the record." Out of 330 graduates last year only five are on record as seeking other employment, and these because of personal or other reasons. For those students in school the Placement Office offers a variety of part-time jobs.

A plan was recently put into operation by which wives of students and alumni are given opportunities for employment whenever any openings are received by the Office.

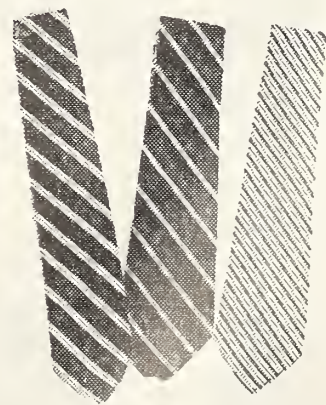

Another project is being planned; the Placement Office and the Alumni Association Placement Committee are cooperating together to better the chances of graduate employment. The Alumni Committee is made up of those graduates who hold positions in, management, professional fields or public relation departments of firms in this section.

Kelly and Cyphers Pace Hounds In M-D Tourney

Promptly at three P. M. on Tuesday last, the eighth annual Mason-Dixon wrestling tournament began at Towson State College. As this goes to print, the final and consolation matches remain for Wednesday's bill of fare.

The Hounds' Jack Cypher at 157 pounds and Vince Kelly at 167 pounds, both of whom acquired the delightful habit of winning at the beginning of the season have remained undefeated ever since, appear to be well on their way to a championship apiece. Both have been given top rating in their respective classes. It would seem safe to wage your wampum that the handicappers have not erred here, especially since these gentlemen have defeated their final opponents during the season. Cyphers, who decisioned Catholic University's Bill McGenley 9-1 in the trials and returned that evening to beat Western Maryland's John Rall by a 10-7 count, grapples second seeded Don Bullock of Gallaudet for top honors. Kelly, not to be outdone by this excellent example, threw Catholic University's Bob Prince in three minutes and won by default from Gene Lutz of Hopkins. The smiling Irishman meets Bill deYoung of Catholic University for his final match.

Gallaudet Leads Tourney

This 1951 tourney has been amazingly true to form so far. Undefeated Gallaudet with six finalists is certain to put the coup de grace to Hopkins' five-year domination of the tourney. Lead by Camille Desmarais, the defending 123-pound champ, Gallaudet is certain of at least 24 points, even if all its finalists should lose which is unlikely.

It seems that the Hounds are caught in the middle again and will finish fourth in a field of seven just as the final conference standings state.

Hound Mermen Regain League Championship

by John Fitzpatrick

American University's Chuck Bailey gained the individual spotlight in the fifth annual Mason-Dixon Conference swimming championships, but Loyola College garnered the main corner of the point market to cop the team title.

The meet, held in Evergreen's pool last Friday and Saturday, found the Greyhounds taking six firsts and American U., four, in the ten events held. Bailey became the first swimmer in the tournament's history to score a triple victory. The sophomore defeated defending champion, Gerry Rooney, in the 50 and 100 yard sprints, and easily won the 440 yard freestyle in 5.32.5.

New Records Set

Four new records were set in the championship meet, all by Loyola's natators. Lou McComas cracked the mark he had set in Friday's trials by swimming the 200 yard backstroke in 2.29.6. His old mark was 2.30.6. The Hound 300-yard medley relay team of McComas, Ed Miller, and Marv Bobbitt cracked the old meet mark of 3.20.8 set in 1950, by copping their specialty in 3.18.9. Bob Bollinger established a new record in the trials of the 220 yard freestyle, when he raced to victory in 2 minutes, 27 and 1/10 seconds.

Loyola's fine freestyle relay team composed of John Allen, Bucky Leonard, Bob Bollinger, and Gerry Rooney, outstroked Randolph-Macon in the record-breaking time of 3.56.8, cracking the old mark of 3.57.6 set by last year's Evergreen team.

Hounds Score

The Greyhounds recovered the Conference title they relinquished to American University last year. Under the direction of yearling coach Bill Klarner, Loyola piled up 66 points for first place; American University took second with 43, followed by Catholic U. 15; Randolph-Macon with 12, and Western Maryland with one.

Bob Bollinger copped first place in the 220-yard freestyle, placed second in the 100-yard freestyle.

Running With The Hounds

Loyola Athletes Conclude Winter Sports Program

by Joe Steffens, Sports Editor

With the conclusion of the Mason-Dixon basketball tourney the curtain will fall on the 1950-51 winter sports program. A backward glance at the record will show that the various Green and Grey squads have represented Loyola College with a spirit comparable to that of their predecessors.

In spite of the impressive performances by Greyhound swimming teams of the past seasons, the '50-'51 aggregation must be considered one of the best in several years. Credit must be given to rookie Coach Bill Klarner, who piloted the mermen to the league crown, which they had lost last year to American U.

On the basketball front, the Hound Cagers, contrary to Coach "Lefty" Reitz's pre-season lament of "We'll be lucky to win four games", managed to compile a regular season mark of 12 wins and 16 losses. They finished third in the Mason-Dixon race with a 10 and 3 log.

One of the prime factors in the team's surprising showing was the improved play of Ben Cook. The 6'8" junior had never played basketball until he entered Loyola. Ben, however, tried out for the team and under the guidance of Coach Reitz together with his own perseverance and determination developed into one of the mainstays of the squad.

The close of the current cage season will also bring about the departure of veterans Herb Meinert and Vince Gallagher from the Evergreen basketball picture. Herb and Vince will graduate in June and their absence will be noticeable, both off and on the court.

Although the record of the wrestling team was not an enviable one, they nevertheless afforded their opponents some stiff opposition. Hampered by injuries and inexperience, the grunt-and-groaners with the blessing of Lady Luck should prove to be more successful next year.

Quintet Earns Tourney Spot; Freshmen Cagers Snare Crown

Loyola College placed their bid for the Mason-Dixon Tournament title as they met the Bluejays from Hopkins last night. The Greyhounds finished their season last Saturday with a ten and three mark. They wound up in third place and drew the Jays as their first tournament opponents.

The games which are currently being held at Catholic University in Washington are scheduled for completion tomorrow evening. Coach Lefty Reitz anticipates a close tournament but has high hopes that Loyola will emerge victorious. The teams with good possibilities are Hopkins, American University, and the league champions, Mount Saint Mary's. The Hounds have beaten all of these squads at least once and if the team repeats its past performances, victory may return to Baltimore with Loyola.

Team Is Ready

The toughest assignment for the Loyolans will be holding down such scorers as Western Maryland's Art Press; or Les Cosgrove from Mount Saint Mary's. Coach Reitz will probably give these tasks to Ed Kowalewski who has done a remarkable job throughout the season curbing the high scorers from the various colleges.

Co-Captains Herb Meinert and Vince Gallagher will be playing their last games for Loyola and we can be assured that they will make them their best. Gallagher's set shots have proven fatal to more than one opponent this season and will be a big factor in the Mason-Dixon Tournament. The excellent rebounding of Herb Meinert and his jump shots will also aid Loyola.
